Laugh A Minute

Calling the roll on the first day of school, the teacher hesitated when she got to the letter B.

"Bonaparte," she called.

"Here, teacher," said a little boy in the front row.

"What's your first name, Bonaparte?" asked the teacher.

"Napoleon," answered the boy.

"That's a rather well-known name, isn't it?" asked the teacher.

"It should be," said the boy. "I've lived in this neighborhood for more than ten years."

* * *

The office secretary, Miss Brewer, came strolling in a little after 11 o'clock.

Said her boss, "You should have been here at 9 o'clock."

"Really," said she. "What happened?"

* * *

Little Billy was puzzled as he glanced through the family photo album.

"Say, Mom," he asked. "Who's this fellow with the curly hair?"

"That's your father."

"Then who's the bald-headed guy upstairs?"

* * *

To get ahead in life they tell you to keep your eye on the ball, your nose to the grindstone, your shoulder to the wheel, and your ear to the ground. I got news for them. See how much work you can do in that position.

* * *

We have a friend whose wife does brilliant bird imitations: She watches him like a hawk, eats like a vulture, talks like a magpie and has the disposition of an old buzzard.

* * *

"Hello! Is this the office of Duffy, Duffy, Duffy and Duffy, attorneys-at-law?"

"Yes, it is."

"May I speak with Mr. Duffy, please?"

"Sorry, he's in court."

"May I speak with Mr. Duffy, please?"

"Sorry, he's in conference."

"May I speak with Mr. Duffy?"

"Sorry, he's on vacation."

"May I speak with Mr. Duffy?"

"Speaking."

* * *

Why did Zero drive his car off the cliff?

Because he wanted to try out the new air brakes.

* * *

"Daddy! Daddy!" yelled little Bobby. "There's a dog outside and he's bigger than a house!"

"Now, Bobby," said his father. "You know I've told you a million times not to exaggerate!"

* * *

They told him it couldn't be done.
But he grinned and went right to it.
He tackled the job that couldn't be done.
And, by golly, he couldn't do it!

* * *

"Can you lend me $10?"

"I can't hear too well with that ear. Come around to the other side."

"O.K. Can you lend me $20?"

"I think you'd better come back to the $10 side."

* * *

"Remember they laughed at Marconi when he invented the steamboat."

"Fulton invented the steamboat."

"No wonder they laughed at Marconi."

* * *

"My father was an old Indian fighter."

"What was your mother?"

"An old Indian."

* * *

Proof that we've really entered a new era is found in the story of the teacher who heard a 6-year-old sing, "Oh beautiful, for spaceship skies..."

* * *

Sarge: "Zero, how old would a person be who was born in 1910?"

Zero: "Man or woman?"

* * *

"Today's my wife's birthday."

"What are you getting for her?"

"Make me an offer."

* * *

Beetle: "Do you know why my life is so miserable?"

Sarge: "You got me."

Beetle: "That's right."

* * *

"Why are you so upset?"

"It's this business of working. Work, work, nothing but work from morning to night."

"How long have you been at it?"

"I start tomorrow."

* * *

"I've got the noisiest neighbors in town. Last night they were banging on the walls at midnight."

"Did they wake you?"

"No, fortunately I was practicing my trumpet at the time."
